

FLEE FROM FLOODS
AT JOHNSTOWN.CITIZENS RUSH FROM THE CONEMAUGH.

Cities In Danger—Furious Floods In the Susquehanna Valley—People of Williamsport, Pa., Flee For Their Lives—Much Loss of Property—Worst Flood Since 1889.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 21.—The Conemaugh river is overflowing, and people are fleeing for their lives. Mountain storms have swelled the little Conemaugh river out of all proportion. Women and children began fleeing half dressed to the high ground at 2 a. m., warned by the sounding of bells and whistles. The water is rising rapidly. The heaviest rainstorm since the big flood of 1889 ceased yesterday morning and early light disclosed flooded streets and alleys and cellars full of water. About $15,000 worth of timber belonging to the Conemaugh Lumber company broke loose and was carried away, tearing two bridges away and causing great damage. Fifty feet of a stone wall along the Conemaugh river, was washed away and crops in the vicinity were ruined, entailing a loss of thousands of dollars.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 21.—News comes from Williamsport that at 1 o'clock this morning the big lumber boom broke and the logs are going down the river. There were 175,000, 400 feet of logs in the boom.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 21.—With the horrors of the disastrous flood of 1889 which spread death and destruction throughout this valley brought back to memory by the threatened danger of a sweep of water that promises to be as great as that of five years ago, the people of this city and all through the West Branch valley were in a state of panic that turned the usually quiet Sunday into a day of remarkable excitement. Since Friday night a steady and almost continuous down-pour of rain has been swelling all of the streams and numerous cloud-bursts along the Pine creek and other tributaries of the West Branch of the Susquehanna have made all of the streams overflow their banks. The water has spread out over the country and at every point is pouring into the main river.

In anticipation of the flood that is expected the fire and church bells were rung at 10 o'clock yesterday morning to notify the people of the impending danger, and since that hour the work of preparing for the worst has been in progress. In the hundreds of homes that were submerged five years ago the people were moving out and storing their goods in the houses of those living on the highlands. The business part of the city was a complete wreck five years ago, and hundreds of merchants were moving their stock to places of safety. Conveyances of every description were hurrying through the streets of the city loaded with household goods and merchandise.

The regular church services were all suspended and in all of the houses of worship those who attended confined their devotion to offering up of prayers for the assistance of providence in the present grave emergency.

The river is coming up rapidly and is now twenty-one feet above the low water mark. As the certainty of great destruction of property grows more apparent the general interest in creases. Four miles of track of the Glen Allen Lumber company have been swept away.

The boom at Lock Haven has broken and 15,000,000 feet of logs have been lost. The Upper Linden boom also broke at 5:30 this afternoon. It contained 10,000,000 feet of logs and they have gone down. They are about 150,000,000 feet of logs in the main boom and half as many more in the city mill ponds that may go on a twenty-five-foot flood.

2 a. m.—With the rain still falling, the river has overflowed its bank in the center part of the city and the water is rushing up Market street and out to Third and Fourth streets, in the business parts of the city, where the cellars are now full of water. The present height of the flood is twenty-four feet, and it is estimated that it will reach twenty-seven feet from the present rainfall. The height of the river in the flood of 1889 turned it out of its course and emptied it in from the north of the city and it is feared that there may be a repetition of that disaster.

BRADFORD, Pa., May 21.—The worst flood in Bradford's history is rushing through Tuna valley. Twenty streets contiguous to the creek are inundated and hundreds of families are driven from their homes. The Douglass dam is partly torn away. The North street bridge is gone and several railroad and street bridges are in danger. The railroad people are holding down their bridges with heavily loaded cars. In the Sixth ward twenty families were taken out of their houses in boats during the night and on Clarence, River and Hilton streets, a rescue corps with skiffs saved as many more. Luckily there were no fatalities. A 15-month-old baby fell into the east branch in the afternoon and was being swept away in the current. Thomas Potter leaped into the creek, and after a desperate struggle, saved the child.

The flood from the east branch covers the territory over which run the Erie railway company's tracks, the Western New York & Pennsylvania tracks and those of the Bradford, & Kinna railway. Webster street is navigable by boats.

Rivers May Rise Thirty Feet.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 21.—Dispatches to Pennsylvania railroad officials report that it has been raining for several days; that the water of the Susquehanna is still rising, and that a conservative estimate places the probable total rise at from twenty-five to thirty feet. At Renovo the water has risen to twenty-three feet above low-water line, at Driftwood ten feet and Keating sixteen feet. At the latter point the river is rising a foot an hour.

Part of Lock Haven is under water and the flood there is very high, and between Bellefonte and Rising Springs two spans of one of the railroad bridges had been carried away. There is a seven-foot flood in Lycoming creek, and at Rising Springs the water is eighteen inches higher than it was in 1889.

ALTOONA, Pa., May 21.—Between this city and Mill Creek the loss from flood is very great. Crops are destroyed and fences and small buildings have been washed away.

SUNBURY, Pa., May 21.—The flood is expected here to-night. Washouts on the Reading and Pennsylvania railroads have laid out passenger and freight trains.

Many Towns Flooded.

JERSEY SHORE, Pa., May 21.—Wind, rain and storm are causing grave trouble throughout this entire section. It has rained heavily, almost unceasingly, since last Wednesday, and there is a twenty-six-foot flood on this branch of the Susquehanna river, and it is expected to reach a height only second to the great flood of June, 1889, and may even exceed that, as at this hour the river is rising at the rate of one foot an hour. Many families are leaving the towns and seeking safety from the flood by going to the hills. At Williamsport there is a twenty-three-foot flood and water is now rising at the rate of more than a foot an hour.

WON BY DEMOCRATS.

Judge Buckwalter Sustains the Senatorial Apportionment Act of 1893.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 19.—Judge Ferdinand Bookwalter Saturday afternoon rendered his decision in the apportionment suit in favor of the democrats. In a brief opinion he declared that his court can not question the senatorial apportionment law of 1893, and therefore denies the petition of plaintiff, James P. Fletcher, republican candidate for the legislature, who sought to enjoin Walter C. Tuttle, clerk of Vermillion county, from calling an election under the disputed statute.

For want of equity the court dismissed the suit and declared that the costs must be paid by the republican petitioner.

Colonel W. J. Calhoun was not in court to represent the plaintiff when the decision was read, but telegraphed that he would arrive later. He will give notice of an appeal and the court will grant it. State's Attorney Wilson was present in behalf of the defendant, and, having prophesied the precise outcome of the case, was much elated over the finding of the court. Mr. Kimbrough, Attorney-General Moloney's associate, came in at 2 o'clock and read the decision with much gratification.

PULLMAN BUILDS A CHURCH.

Chicago Millionaire Perpetuates His Father's Memory.

ALBION, N. Y., May 21.—The cornerstone of the Pullman Memorial church was laid to-day with imposing ceremonies. The principal address was given by Rev. Dr. R. H. Pullman of Baltimore, who was followed by the Rev. Dr. Saxe of Rochester. This church edifice is the gift of George M. Pullman, the Chicago millionaire, to the Universalist society of Albion, and is erected in memory of his father and mother, who are both buried there. Its estimated cost is $75,000 and the only requirement made of the local society was that it should raise $5,000, which is now invested, and the income of which is forever pledged for the maintenance and repair of the building.

Mr. Pullman was for years a resident of Albion, where he followed the occupation of raising and moving buildings, and his first decided start in the world was secured when he went to Chicago in company with the late C. H. Moore of Albion and successfully raised many of the great business blocks of the city to the new level of the streets. It was a new venture and brought to him wealth. The invention of the palace car followed.

MARYLAND MINERS UGLY.

Say They Will Resist the Introduction of Colored Diggers.

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 21.—Six hundred miners at Frostburg and Lonaconing, who Friday returned to work, have yielded to the persuasions of the organizers and promised to remain out. "If the men do not decide what they are going to do by Wednesday," said a leading operator, "we will introduce colored labor in the mines." The rumors of introducing negro labor have excited the strikers, and they threaten to kill the negroes if brought here to take their places.

Coal Growing Scarce at Fairbury.

FAIRBURY, Ill., May 21.—The situation as regards the striking coal miners here is beginning to look serious.

TOIL ON THE TARIFF
IN THE SENATEPRESENT STATUS OF THE WILSON BILL.

Views of Democrats and Republicans Touching the Measure—Coming Proceedings in the House—Senator Kyle Talks—Difference of Opinion Over the Bank Tax Repeal.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The senate begins the seventh week of the discussions of the tariff bill to-day at 10 o'clock by taking up the metal schedule, and the prospect is now that the entire week will be devoted to the tariff without attempting any other business than that which can be done in the first half hour of the daily sessions and possibly an occasional brief executive session after 6 o'clock for the disposition of uncontested nominations. Senator Harris yesterday reaffirmed his intention of pressing the bill forward as rapidly as possible, but he said he had no idea of an attempt to extend the daily sessions beyond 6 o'clock so long as the work should go on as satisfactorily as it is going at present. He expressed the opinion that the republican senators who have been opposing the bill and apparently seeking to delay its passage had decided to change their policy and to let the bill proceed upon its passage after giving the various items of difference the attention demanded by their merits, and instanced the fact, noticeable Friday and Saturday, that there had been a decided cessation of long speeches and of roll calls as well. Senator Aldrich expresses the opinion that the week will be spent upon the metal and woolen schedules, and says the discussion will go on much as it has during the last week—that the republicans will allow some of the items of the bill to go unchanged, and they will ask explanations and give their opinions of changes made in others. He says that many paragraphs of the metal schedule are acceptable to the republicans and that, taking the times and conditions which now prevail into consideration, the rates in some instances are even more liberal than those of the McKinley law. He says, however, that there is dissatisfaction with the miscellaneous items of the schedule and that these will cause considerable debate. He also says that the lumber question will be discussed when the wood schedule is reached.

Senator Aldrich thinks it improbable that the sugar schedule will be reached during the week, while Senator Harris considers it possible that it may be. They agreed that this schedule will, when reached, develop a sharp debate. Senator Hill, who has been absent since the consideration of the schedules was begun, is expected to be in his seat to-day.

STRUGGLE ON BANK TAX REPEAL.
Sharp Party and Financial Contest Pending in the House.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The state bank issue which has been gathering strength at caucuses and conferences ever since congress assembled, promises to be fought to a finish in the house during the week. It will bring out a sharp contest on party as well as economic lines, as the state bank plank of the democratic national platform has advanced the question to a place of importance second only to those of the tariff and silver. Chairman Springer of the banking committee and Representatives Cox, Culbertson, Swanson and other state bank advocates expect to begin the contest Tuesday or Wednesday on a question of consideration. The anti-state bank men are expected to insist that the Indian appropriation bill has equal privileges, in which case a test vote will decide the strength of the state bank men. They are confident of winning on the vote of consideration, and Mr. Springer is prepared to open the debate. The main issue, however, will be on conditional or unconditional repeal of the tax. Mr. Swanson says unconditional repeal can certainly muster 140 votes and conditional repeal 155.

Aside from the banking bill, Representative Hatch (Mo.) is hopeful of taking up the anti-option bill during the week. To-day is the regular suspension day, but it is expected the legislative bill will hold its place and be passed. The Indian appropriation bill is next on the calendar.

The most important committee work of the week will be the reporting from the rules committee of a recommendation that the naval committee investigate armor plate frauds. The report is expected to-day. Tuesday the judiciary committee will consider Judge Jenkins' strike injunction. Thursday Mr. Bland will again try to get his free coinage bill reported from the coinage committee.

Kyle Talks of the Bribery Case. WASHINGTON, May 21.—Senator Kyle arrived from South Dakota last night. He talks freely about the bribery case in which he, Senator Hutton, and Major Buttz are the principals. Senator Kyle believes the man was in earnest; that he meant to buy votes; and, further, that he was only the agent of a New York lawyer sent to Washington by some powerful syndicate. "His idea," said Mr. Kyle, "was that I should name my price and he would go to his principal and arrange to have it paid me. The figure he spoke of was $15,000 for my vote. I was to get $14,000 and he $1,000 for transacting the business."

HALF MILLION LOST
IN A CITY FIRE.PHILADELPHIA BUSINESS
BLOCKS DESTROYED.

The Fire Thought to Be of Incendiary Origin—Firemen Overcome by Smoke—Flames In Other Places Throughout the Country—Tramps Cause a Destructive Blaze.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 21.—A $500,000 fire ate a big hole in the heart of the city's center yesterday. The stores of Julius Sichel company, Nos. 50, 52 and 54 North Eighth street and No. 806 Arch street, and L. Dannenbaum's Sons & Co.'s place, Nos. 808 and 810 Arch street, were gutted and several adjoining places were damaged by smoke and water. At least $500,000 worth of millinery, trimmings and finery were reduced to an ash heap. The greater part of the aggregate loss is covered by insurance. For fully three hours the blaze held sway. The origin of the fire is veiled in mystery, but its presence was first discovered by Officer Gillette. He was passing along Eighth street at 12:30 o'clock and noticed puffs of white smoke issuing through the gratings below the northern bulk windows of Sichel's Eighth street store. A few minutes previously four men, who were at work on the upper floor of Sichel's establishment marking new stock, had discovered the smoke and made a partial investigation, but decided it came from an adjoining building, the result of building a furnace fire. They returned to work and just as the engines arrived had to run for their lives. At 12:55 o'clock the flames were gaining such headway that the chief struck a third, and at 12:59 turned in a fourth alarm. In a few minutes the entire interior of the Eighth street stores was practically in ruins and the floors fell through. As the fire was got under control the outbursts of flames were succeeded by billows of suffocating smoke which made it difficult for the firemen to work in or near the buildings. Several were overcome. The total loss by the fire will reach $500,000, with about $300,000 insurance.

Big Fire at St. John, N. B. ST. JOHN, N. B., May 21.—Fire broke out at 12:15 this morning in the wholesale house of W. H. Thorne & Co., dealers in hardware, paints, oils, etc. At 2 a. m. the fire is considered to be under control. W. H. Thorne & Co. are the largest dealers in this line in Canada. The loss is estimated at from $125,000 to $200,000.

Blaze Caused by Tramps. FORT DODGE, Iowa, May 21.—A packing house was completely destroyed by fire at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The loss is $15,000; insurance, $20,000. The plant has not been in operation for the last two years. The origin of the fire is attributed to tramps.

Burned to Death by Gasoline. DUBUQUE, Iowa, May 21.—While endeavoring to fill a lighted gasoline stove Annie Linz, a domestic, was fatally burned owing to an explosion. Mrs. Jackson was severely burned.

ANARCHISTS' EVIL WORK.
They Want a Coal Mine at Spring Valley, Ill., to Burn.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., May 21.—Through spite work on the part of the White Breast company's miners at Ladd, No. 1 mine of the Spring Valley company will have a hard time escaping destruction by fire. Up to Thursday the company men had been working at Ladd. At Spring Valley no men have been allowed to work, save at a little fire that was discovered in the mine. Wednesday a committee of Spring Valley miners went to Ladd and asked the company men to quit. They did so, but the Ladd men the next day retaliated by sending a committee to Spring Valley and compelling the men working at the fire to discontinue work. At a meeting every miner that spoke in favor of going to work was ridiculed and hooted at by the anarchists.

As soon as it was voted not to put out the fire Mr. Murray telegraphed President J. A. Crawford for instructions. Crawford wired Murray to use every argument to convince the foreigners of the benefits to accrue to the cause if they would reconsider their action. The anarchists finally gave their consent to allow fifteen men to go to work, but Superintendent Stone says nearly 200 men are needed for at least a week to fight the flames.

The anarchists are talking of marching to Ladd and shutting down the pump that keeps the water out of the Ladd mine. If this is done the Ladd mine will soon be flooded. The Spring Valley men say they have a right to stop the Ladd pump if the Ladd men persist in advocacy of the destruction of the Spring Valley mines by fire. If the Spring Valley anarchists go to Ladd and attempt to stop the pump there will likely be trouble.

KENTUCKY HAS A SNOW STORM

Six Inches at Somerset and Three at Lexington—Crops Damaged.

SOMERSET, Ky., May 21.—A wet snow over six inches deep was found covering everything yesterday morning. It began about midnight and continued until after daybreak. The thermometer has not been lower than 38 degrees. A May snow storm was never known before in this section.

TAKEN FROM A DANCE HOUSE.

Janesville Girl Rescued from a Life of Shame at Tomahawk.

TOMAHAWK, Wis., May 21.—A young woman about seventeen years of age was taken from a dance house near this city Friday night by Mayor Whitson and Chief of Police Mondeau on a letter from her mother at Janesville, written to the Rev. Mr. Thomson, a Congregational minister at this place. She was sent to Janesville.

BASEBALL REPORT.

Percentage of the Various Clubs in the National League.

At Chicago—Cleveland, 9; Chicago, 5.
At Baltimore—Baltimore, 7; Washington, 5.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 8; Boston, 7.

At Brooklyn—Brooklyn, 3; New York, 3.

At St. Louis—St. Louis, 5; Cincinnati, 3.

Dam Breaks Above Altoona.

ALTOONA, Pa., May 21.—The dam in the horseshoe curve, above this city, broke at 11:30 o'clock last night, thirteen feet of it being carried away.

The people living in the valley had ample time to get out of the way of rushing water. If the heavy rainfall continues the rest of the dam will probably be carried away. Altoona gets its water supply from this body of water.

Imprisoned in Their Homes.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 21.—Within the last twenty-four hours the Juniata and the Raystown branch have risen twenty-two feet, flooding the low farms and imprisoning whole families in their homes. At Sloyestown, Bedford county, Mrs. Jacob Miller, while trying to save her personal belongings, was drowned. Whole farms on the Raystown branch have been practically ruined, buildings and fencing washed away and crops destroyed.

Drowned Out at Lock Haven.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 21.—At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Western Union force at Lock Haven was driven from the office by the flood, and since that hour nothing has been heard from that point. The office is located in the center of the town, some distance from the river, and the destruction of property must therefore be very great.

Olean Is In Danger.

OLEAN, N. Y., May 21.—From present indications Olean is going to have a duplicate of the great flood of five years ago. But a few inches more will be required to shut off the pump station. East Olean looks like a vast lake. No teams have been able to pass along the Boardmanville road from East Olean.

Buffalo Does Not Escape.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 21.—All the lower portions of the city are flooded. At Portville the streets are submerged and people are being driven from their homes. Merchants have been forced to take their goods off the floor and pile them on the counters and upon boxes and barrels.

High Water in New York.

GENESEE, N. Y., May 21.—The heaviest rainstorm for years, lasting forty-eight hours, has caused a great flood in the Genesee river, and an immense amount of damage has been done. The river continues to rise at the rate of eight to twelve inches an hour, and only lacks eighteen inches of the highest flood in ten years.

Forty-Three Train Stealers Go to Jail.

HELENA, Mont., May 21.—All the Coxeyites captured at Forsythe have appeared before Federal Judge Knowles. Forty-three, including the leaders, were sentenced to the county jail for from thirty days to six months and others have been liberated on promise not to interfere with Northern Pacific trains. The liberated number about 200.

French Anarchist Guillotined.

PARIS, May 21.—Emile Henry, the author of the bomb explosion in the cafe of the Hotel Terminus, was guillotined at 4:14 o'clock this morning. As Henry emerged from the prison gates he shouted, "Vive la anarchie," which he repeated just before he was seized and thrown on the guillotine. There was no disorder.

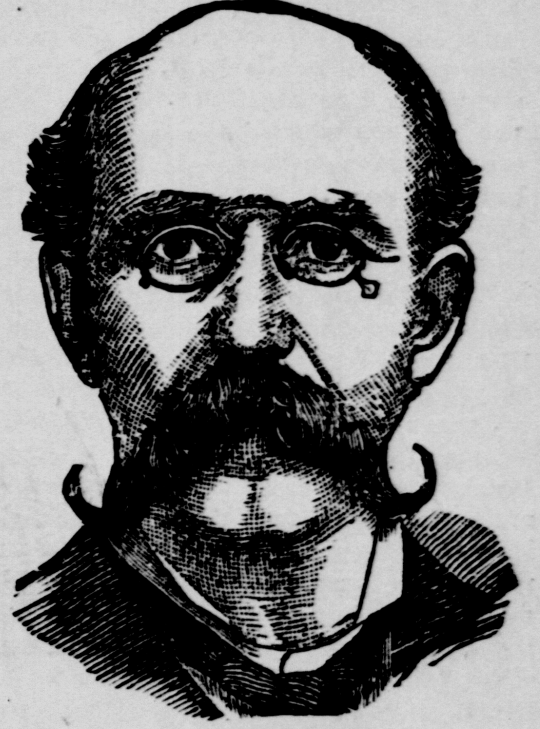

Seven Men Instantly Killed.

PRINCETON, Ky., May 21.—A collision in the Standing Rock tunnel, on the Fewport News & Mississippi Valley railway, twelve miles east of this place, killed seven men. Late developments show the cause of the wreck to be due to the flagman of the work train, who got his orders confused.

BY HIS OWN PETARD
POWDERLY RISES.FRAMED THE LAW THAT OUSTED HIM.

Measure Which Makes It Possible to Drive Him From the Knights of Labor Was One of His Own Construction—Others Had to Go With Him.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 21.—The penalty for talking too much and endeavoring to bring about the downfall of the men who succeeded him in command of the Knights of Labor has been the expulsion of ex-General Master Workman Powderly from the order. A. W. Wright of Toronto, and P. H. Quinn, master workman of District Assembly No. 99, all Powderly adherents, have shared a similar fate to that of their late chief. The work was performed in Boston at a meeting of the executive committee Friday, there being present Messrs. McGuire, French, and Martin. The expelled men have been expecting a decapitation for some time past, and they have been scheming to weaken the knights and the influence of the men who are now running the order.

SAW AWAY THE BARS.

Eight Prisoners Escape from the Jail at Beatrice, Neb.

BEATRICE, Neb., May 21.—A daring jail delivery occurred last night and eight prisoners escaped from the county jail. Through some means a meat saw blade had been smuggled into the jail and it was used to cut two of the bars from each of the four cell doors and two more bars from the outside jail door leading from the corridor to the street. There were twelve prisoners in the jail at the time and all except four got away. The men escaped about midnight, but the fact was not discovered until breakfast time, when the sheriff went to feed the prisoners. Descriptions have been sent in every direction and it is believed all can be recaptured.

Train Wrecked Near Effingham, Ill.

EFFINGHAM, Ill., May 21.—Passenger train No. 24 of the Illinois Central was wrecked at Watson, five miles south of this city. Heavy timbers were wedged into the frogs of the switch at the south end, and a freight train had headed in on the switch to let No. 24 by. When the locomotive of the passenger train reached the obstruction it left the track and ran glancingly against the freight locomotives. The collision overturned the passenger engine, smashed the mail car, and derailed three express cars. Fireman Charles Walters of the freight engine was painfully injured and George Baker of the passenger engine was also injured.

Will Aid Striking Miners.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 21.—At a mass-meeting of railroad men here in the interests of the American Railway Union resolutions were adopted offering financial and co-operative support to the miners in their big strike. Speeches were made by Eugene Debs, president, and W. C. Prentice, chief organizer of the Railway Union, and John McBride, president of the United Mine Workers.

Randall's Industrials Get Pic.

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 21.—Sullivan's wing of Randall's division of the industrial army held an enthusiastic mass meeting yesterday afternoon and enlisted fifteen recruits. During their four days' stay here they have been royally treated, especially since the smallpox canard to get them out of the city was exploded. The wealers go from here to Cleveland and from there to Massillon, Coxey's starting point.

May Continue the Trip in Barges.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 21.—The main body of Fry's army, 228 in number came into the city yesterday and are at the Coffin Home. The Central Labor council has taken the army under its protection, and its leaders are confident that they can collect money enough to send the army to Pittsburg. The industrials probably will be taken up the river in coal barges.

Heavy Frosts in the Northwest.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 21.—Reports from numerous points in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and the Dakotas are to the effect that heavy frosts occurred Friday and Saturday nights, causing considerable damage to garden truck and vegetables.

WATERTOWN BEATEN BY THE ATHLETICS.

WELL-PLAYED GAME ON A BLUSTERING DAY.

The Score Was 10 to 5. Janesville's Batting the Visiting Pitcher After the Second Inning—Good Fielding By Members of the Home Team—Fair Attendance.

A fair-sized crowd braved the cold weather and witnessed a good game of ball at Athletic park yesterday afternoon. The game started out at a fast gait and looked as though Watertown was going to get the best of it, but Janesville pulled herself together and hit Oestrick hard after the second inning. Schicker had great speed and good control holding the visitors down except in the second and ninth innings.

Watertown started the run getting in the second. Edward, the first man up made a single and scored on A. Roessler's two-bagger. Roessler scored on Steinberg's hit. In the third the visitors added one more. Kell made a hit, went to second on a passed ball and scored on Edward's hit. In the ninth they landed two more men. Birmingham failed to handle Steinberg's difficult grounder. Steinberg went to second on Oestrick's out and scored on Fred Smith's hit. Smith scored on Roessler's hit.

Janesville failed to score till the fourth inning, when John Wilbur reached second on O. Roessler's error; stole third and scored on Schicker's long sacrifice fly to left. In the fifth three more crossed the plate. Crall made a hit, but was forced at second by Morrissey; Dixon hit to short stop, who failed to get Tom at second; Dixon landed safe, and Morrissey scored on Connors' hit, and Dixon and Connors scored on Wilbur's two-bagger. Two more runs were added in the seventh on McGinley's hit, Wilbur's base on Crall's and Birmingham's second two-bagger. Four more piled up in the eighth on error by Frank Smith and H. Roessler, and hits by Connors, Wilbur and Roberts.

It must be admitted that the locals had good luck, but they played a fast game of ball. Crall, Roberts and Birmingham fielded in good style, while Connors, Birmingham, Crall and Wilbur hit with effect. Dixon caught his usual good game. Score:

Crall	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
Roessler	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
Morrissey	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
Dixon	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
Connors	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
McGinley	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
Wilbur	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
Roberts	1	0	2	3	1	0	2
Schicker	1	0	2	3	1	0	2

KELLY'S CONTRACT FOR DIRECTUM

The Driver Tells How Green Went Back on His Word.

Frankly and candidly John Kelly reviews the circumstances under which he lost Directum. He tells the story in a letter to The Horseman, which reads as follows:

EDITOR HORSEMAN:—There have been various opinions expressed and conflicting statements made during the past two or three weeks in many of the turf journals concerning Directum and his probable management for 1894. I feel that it is just and proper that a clear statement of the facts should be placed before the public through your columns. As regards my connection with Directum and his owner, Mr. Green, when I left Pleasanton, Cal., February 1, 1894 to accept a position with DuBois Bros., of Denver, Col., it was thoroughly understood and a verbal agreement entered into between Mr. Green and myself that I was to have the horse Directum and the mare Electrina for the season of 1894. In fact, Mr. Green pledged himself, in the presence of a witness, that no other man should drive Directum during the year 1894. It was agreed upon that we should make a written contract in accordance with the verbal one made at Pleasanton, when he sent the horses to me at Denver, Col. As I thought Mr. Green an honorable man and a man of his word, a verbal contract was all that I deemed necessary. I assured him that I must be certain of having the horses, so that I might enter them in races and make any other arrangements that I saw fit. He thereupon told me that his word was as good as his bond, and told me to go ahead and do what I thought was right and necessary, and that he would leave it all to me. Well, I was confident, entered the mare in several stakes and made arrangements for Directum, in all of which I kept Mr. Green thoroughly posted; also kept him advised of everything done by me for his interest. About the time the horses were to be shipped to me I received a letter from Mr. Green saying they had made a conditional sale of both Directum and Electrina to Mr. McIver, and that he had delivered the horses, adding that he was sorry he did not send them to me.

This is the treatment I received at the hands of Mr. Green, and without even giving me the preference or the gentleman with whom I am at present associated a chance in this conditional sale, he simply leases to other parties and then notifies me of the conditional sale. The probabilities are that I could have secured for him as much for the horses as he receives at present had I for a moment suspected that he would ever again entertain the thought of leasing them, but such a thing was never hinted at. However, there are two bona fide contracts for Directum to appear in Denver and Council Bluffs. These must be fulfilled, no matter who has the temporary management of the horse or who drives him. So far as Mr. Hickok or Mr. McIver are concerned, they have my best wishes for success with Directum. Of course having driven the horse so much it seems like losing a lost friend. JOHN KELLY, Denver, Colo.

WILD LETTUCE GETS THE BEST OF FARMS

NEW FIELD PEST IS TAKING FIRM ROOT.

Farmers Say It Is Becoming Abundant and Very Troublesome—Imported From Europe It Finds This Climate Very Congenial—Two Cuttings Kill It.

Farmers from the west part of the country report that wild or prickly lettuce promises to be an exceedingly troublesome weed. It is one of many weeds introduced from Europe and has not gained a foothold in the central west until within the past few years. It has not been noticed in any large quantity in this vicinity until two years ago. Last year it was very abundant, and this spring still more so. It spreads very rapidly, as it seeds abundantly and the seeds are as readily carried by the wind as those of the dandelion. It has been estimated that nearly 22,000 seeds may be produced to the square foot.

The plant is readily recognized, as the leaves are much like those of some varieties of cultivated lettuce. They are six or eight inches long, about an inch and one half wide, with irregular, prickly edges. On some farms and in many vacant lots in Janesville it is abundant. Cutting the plant before the seeds form, better before it blossoms, will prevent its spread. Twice cutting will be sufficient. As the plant is either annual or biennial its destruction would be easy if it were not for seeds being carried by the wind, perhaps from considerable distances.

FUNERAL OF MRS. R. L. BROWN.

Service at the Home and In Emerald Grove.

Brief funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Robert L. Brown were held Sunday afternoon at the home in Riverview Park. The funeral proper was held in Emerald Grove, many friends of the family being in attendance. Rev. S. P. Wilder, officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hammond. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jeffris, Mrs. Dr. Menzies and William Bladen were the singers. The pall bearers in this city were Frank Douglas, Frank Sennett, W. G. Clinton and Frank Gibson. At Emerald Grove they were D. E. Jones, F. H. Wetmore, W. J. Jones and Geo. R. McLeay.

[Written in memory of Mrs. Robert Brown, by her cousin, Mrs. J. T. Barless.]
One more happy home is broken
By the ruthless hand of death;
One more gone to join the angels
To dwell in eternal rest.

Husband, weep not; she is resting
His strong arm, shall be thy guard.
Little children, God will lead you
Mother's gone to her reward.

Mother, sisters, brothers, weep not,
She's as spotless as the snow.
Let us all follow in her footsteps
As she dwelt with us here below.

—Always trusting in her Savior:
Ready to join Him, when her sufferings
Were o'er;
Ready to part with the weeping loved ones,
For she knew in heaven there would be
Parting no more.

By her death our faith made stronger
Mould our future by her past.
Never shrinking from her duty
Serving God faithful to the last.

Wearied days and months of suffering
Baffling with that dread disease
Till it gained the victory o'er her
And she gave up her life to Thee.

While for her loss the mourner weeps
For the husband that's lost a loving wife
For the dear little children so young bereft
Of a loving mother's care through life.

May God comfort you in your great loss
To the one whose sorrow is so deep
His fond eye is watching o'er you
She is asleep in Jesus, peaceful sleep.

SUNDAY DRUNK SENT HIM TO JAIL.

John Dorsey Sorry He Kept His Bottle So Long.

John Dorsey will spend five days in jail as penalty for his Sunday debauch. Dorsey fell into the hands of Patrolman Kase yesterday afternoon on West Milwaukee street, and this morning was confronted in the municipal court by a charge of disorderly drunk. Dorsey pleaded not guilty.

"Where did you get your whiskey?" inquired the court.

"It was some I had Saturday night," was the reply.

"Where did you carry it?"

"In a bottle."

"Where did you go with it on Sunday?"

"All around town."

"Have you any money to pay a fine?"

"No, sir."

"Jail for five days."

Clerk Williams quickly made out the commitment paper, and jokingly held it towards Dorsey.

"Here Jack, I suppose you can carry this down just as well as to send an officer with you," he said.

Dorsey smiled, as the clerk withdrew the paper and passed it over to the officer, who put the "come alongs" on his wrists. Dorsey does not take kindly to the fare at the county hotel, and yesterday gave Patrolman Kruse a wild run around the Fourth ward streets and alleys before he was captured.

SMITH BUSY OVER FALLEN WIRES

Telegraph Superintendent Called to Chicago to Make Extensive Repairs.

Alderman Ed. Smith went to Chicago this morning to superintend the repairing of the Western Union telegraph lines in and around the big city. The storm of last week did much damage to the company's lines, breaking and twisting wires, etc., and Superintendent Smith has a difficult and tedious job before him. He will be absent from home several days.

CONCERT WILL BE A SUCCESS.

Much Interest in the Singing of Mrs. Ada Holdredge Ash.

The opera house will be crowded tonight. Mrs. Ada Holdredge Ash and Karlton Hackett will be the bright particular stars. Mrs. Ash has four numbers. She will appear in two solos in a duet with Mr. Hackett and in a trio with Mesdames Conrad and Toren. Considerable interest is being manifested in this charming little lady from the fact that she had made a mark in the musical world, and this is to be her first appearance before an audience of her own town's people. While in New York she participated in a grand sacred concert given for the benefit of the poor of Harlem, under the auspices of the Sagamore club. Such distinguished artists as Abby Schofield and Graun's grand opera singers, Raymond Moore, America's greatest balladist, late of the "Luxe" company and R. S. Coghlan took part, all donating their services. The Amusement Globe, published in New York, said that Mrs. Ash's singing was "one of the features of the evening." Mr. Hackett comes highly recommended and the balance of the talent is too well known in Janesville to need special mention.

POST OFFICE WAS THEIR REFUGE

James Latham and Family Found Shivering in the Cold Storm.

James Latham, his wife and three small children, the youngest being a little baby, shivered in the postoffice vestibule this morning. They arrived in the city Sunday from Kaukauna, enroute to Marshalltown, Iowa. Their funds were exhausted and the destitute family were without money or food. Charitable Janesville people took them to a hotel where they were given supper, lodging and breakfast and this morning they started out to seek assistance. They brought up in the postoffice during the cold storm. The little ones shivered in the damp cold and none of the family were properly clothed. Clerk Williams of the municipal court noticed their condition, and at his suggestion they were taken to the court room where good fires were burning and the woman and little ones were protected from the severe storm. Later in the day Superintendent Kenyon of the county poor, assisted them on their journey westward, they expecting to meet relatives in Marshalltown.

JANESVILLE PEOPLE AT MADISON.

Hon. and Mrs. A. O. Wilson on a Reception Committee—Doings of Students.

MADISON, May 21.—Hon. and Mrs. A. O. Wilson are members of the reception committee for the grand Athletic Association ball which is to be given in the new gymnasium next Friday night.

Miss Grace Wright responded to a toast at a banquet given by the girls at Ladies' Hall Saturday night. Tom Morrissey, one of Janesville's well known base ball men, is coaching the "Varsity" base ball club. Alfred McCulloch, whose health was such that he was obliged to leave the university last winter term has again been obliged to stop his work here and go home. He will not return again this term. Another one of the Janesville boys at Madison has won high honors in debate. Ralph Jackman was chosen one of the four selected from a class of thirty that appeared Friday evening on the "blow out" debate of his society, Philomathia. He upheld the negative of "Resolved, that Canada should be annexed to the United States." He made a very fine debate and his side were declared winners.

NEW MONEY ORDER RECEIVED.

Postmaster Wilson Gets a Sample of the New Form of Certificate.

Postmaster Wilson has received a fac-simile form of the new issue of money orders, which go into general use on July 1. The style of the new issue is much improved over the old, the order proper, the advice, and the memorandum being all contained on the sheet. The system used in marking the amount of the order is about the same as in vogue on express money orders, and the limit of a single order is $100. Postal notes will not be furnished after the 1st of July, but the rate on money orders will be reduced so that they will not be any more expensive than were the postal notes and at the same time be a much safer method of remitting money.

AUCTION SALE OF THE IMPLEMENT COMPANY.

Plant Knocked Down to L. Collins at $3,000 Which Is About Thirty Per Cent. of Its Actual Value—Representatives of Numerous Creditors Were Present.

L. Collins bought the entire plant of the Janesville Transfer and Implement company, located at 312-316 West Milwaukee street, at assignee's sale Saturday. The price paid was $3,000, about 30 per cent of the actual value. The liabilities of the firm are about $11,000. J. F. Reynolds was the assignee and W. T. Dooley acted as auctioneer. Representatives of the McCormick Reaper company, Deering company, Norwegian Plow company and Milwaukee Buggy company were present at the sale in the interest of the several creditors of the defunct firm, as well as a goodly number of local representatives. The sale was wound up in short order and it is understood that Mr. Collins will continue the business at the present location. The company was incorporated in 1890, with a capital stock of five thousand dollars.

Cucumber Complexion Soap.

Don't use the cheap animal oil soap that contains so much free alkali that it is fit only for laundry purposes. The public have not the requisite knowledge of the manufacture of soaps to guide them to a proper selection; and so a pretty box; a pretty color or an agreeable perfume too frequently out-weighs the more important consideration; the composition of the soap itself.

We have a very carefully selected stock of Pure Vegetable Oil toilet soaps of seventy different kinds. On Monday only we will sell Cucumber Complexion Soap at COCKROACHES IN HIS HEAD.

An Oysterman Through Whose Upper Story a Tunnel Was Partially Bored.

A man with a nest of cockroaches in his head presented himself at the Emergency hospital in Washington recently. Stories have often been told of snakes and frogs in human stomachs. An instance in regard to the habits of animals which is even more peculiar came to light about a week ago. Cases have often been noticed where bugs have entered the ear and caused excruciating pain by eating the delicate membranes and tissues of the inner ear before they could be driven out. But this is the first case known to the Omaha Bee where a roach was permitted to remain in the ear long enough to lay its eggs and hatch its young. George Woods, the patient, a young man of about 20, is employed on an oyster boat. Like many other boats this one was infested with big, black cockroaches. One night while Woods was asleep a roach crept in his ear and lodged itself just far enough inside to be out of reach. Woods felt it there next morning, but being unable to poke it out with his finger he permitted it to remain, thinking her roachship would tire of her quarters and move out. But the roach, either because it got in head first and could not turn around and get out, or because it found the accommodations exceedingly comfortable, instead of getting out, proceeded to make its nest right there in the man's ear. Finally it started to tunnel through the head. As it afterwards was shown on investigation the roach had eaten its way through the channel to the tympanum and through the drum itself. Here, it seems, it gave up investigations, and from some cause or other died. When Woods found that he was deaf in the right ear he thought he had better have the matter looked into, so he took advantage of his boat being in Washington to visit the hospital. When Dr. Johnson washed out the ear, in addition to the body of the defunct roach, a number of little roaches and some eggs which had failed to hatch were removed.

The Prize Story.

The following story ascribed to H. C. Barnabee, of the Bostonians, won second prize in a contest for the best story sent to Life's Calendar: A well-known Congregationalist clergyman of Boston went to an eminent dentist of that city to have himself supplied with a new set of teeth. After several pilgrimages the work was completed. The clergyman, who possesses a voice pitched in an almost feminine key, stepped from the operating chair, and, standing before a long mirror, began to grimace, opening his mouth so wide as to show his new set of teeth. He finally burst out with the exclamation, "Jesus Christ!" The dentist, who was a religious man and who did not know that his patient was a clergyman, upon repetition two or three times of the sacred name, protested most vigorously against what he considered a blasphemy. The good clergyman, astonished, turned from the mirror and said: "My good friend, I'm not swearing. It is thirty years since I've been able to pronounce the name of my blessed Redeemer without whistling."

Married His Mother-in-Law.

The marital relations of Wm. Newcomb, of Stafford Springs, Conn., are rather unusual. In the first place he married a Miss Moody, by whom he had one child, and from whom he was afterwards divorced. He then married Miss Moody's mother. He has since had a boy by his second wife, and an expert will have to be found to straighten out the family relationship. Mrs. Newcomb No. 1 is half sister to her husband's child, and is also step-daughter to her former husband. Mrs. Newcomb No. 2 is step-mother to her grand-daughter. The first child is a grand-child of its step-mother and niece to its half-brother. The second child is uncle to his half-sister and half-brother to his father's first wife. Newcomb is step-father to his former wife, and is step-grandfather to his own child.

"Hot Enough to Roast Eggs."

We often hear persons make use of the metaphorical expression quoted in the headline when referring to an exceptionally hot day. Such an experiment may seem a little "far-fetched," and "out of the ordinary," but there are many cases on record where scientists have actually cooked eggs by the sun's heat. In 1837, when Herschel was in South Africa, he cooked eggs by exposure to the heat of the sun "until they were powdery to the center." Sir J. C. Ross made a similar experiment in New Zealand.

Superstition.

A gentleman who had been dining at a restaurant, and who had often ordered a dozen oysters, counted them one day and found but eleven. Still another day he counted them with the same result. Then he said to the waiter:

"Why do you give me only eleven oysters when I order a dozen?"

"Oh, sir," answered the waiter, "I didn't think you'd want to be settin' thirteen at table, sir!" — Youth's Companion.

New York Anglomaniacs.

Some idea of the number of New York men who get their clothes in London may be gathered from the fact that this week there are twenty-three agents for English tailoring houses in that town. Most of the goods are brought into this country free of duty and cost the wearer a little less than the same clothes made here. All the big London houses have places in New York city where alterations are made free of charge.

A Remarkable Sand Dune.

There is a remarkable sand dune near the lighthouse at Cape Henry, at the mouth of Chesapeake bay. The sand from the beach has been piled up nearly 200 feet at an easy slope on the ocean side, but on the inland side it descends in an almost sheer precipice and particles of sand blown up the slope fall over the edge and are spread far and wide by the wind. It is supposed that the precipice-like peculiarity of the mound is due to conflicting wind currents that blow about the cape.

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 130. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians." — Mrs. Harry Starr, Pottsville, Pa., October 12, 1892.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

1780—Elizabeth Gurney (Fry), Quaker preacher and prison reformer, born near Norwich, England; died 1845.

1794—Charles Paul de Kock, noted French writer, born near Paris; died 1871.

1796—Reverdy Johnson, lawyer and statesman, born in Annapolis; died there 1876.

1846—Maria Edgeworth, English novelist, died in County Longford, Ireland; born in England 1767.

1866—Augustin Thierry, French historian, died; born 1805.

1879—Famous naval engagement off Iquique, Chili; the Peruvian monitor Huascar sunk the Chilean ironclad Esmeralda.

1882—The Brazilian ironclad Salimades founded off the mouth of the Rio de la Plata, and 120 of the crew were drowned.

UP TO DATE DEMOCRATIC CATECHISM

From the New York Sun (Dem.)

Q.—What is a democratic platform, and why is it so called?

A.—It is an ingenious mechanical device, by means of which you drop a vote into the slot and get left. It is so called because the democrats stand off of it.

Q.—If the democrats have no platform where do they get their principles?

A.—They borrow them without leave from the republicans and the populists.

Q.—What is a democrat?

A.—A protection-populist, or populist-protectionist.

Q.—What is a tariff for revenue?

A.—Protection for protection's sake, and an income tax.

Q.—But is this the tariff for revenue I heard about in 1892?

A.—It's a wise man that knows the heart from the hat.

Q.—What is meant by the terms "spoliation," "fraud," "robbery"?

A.—They are purely political words.

Q.—Is not protection unconstitutional?

A.—Not if it has the right pull.

Q.—Do the democrats believe that the Federal government has the constitutional power to levy protective taxes?

A.—The democrats are dead. You probably mean the populerepublicans. They believe that the power goes with the pull.

Q.—But what becomes of the constitution, then?

A.—It is overruled by the 428 amendments.

Q.—What is an atrocity?

A.—Protection in some other man's district.

Q.—What is a moderate duty?

A.—A McKinley rate screwed up or slightly down as the case may be.

Q.—What is a culminating atrocity?

A.—It is when a senator fails to go a higher duty for the industries in his state.

Q.—What is a trust.

A.—It is a society of ingenious and earnest men, pledged to abstain from all interference with legislation.

Q.—What is meant by "revenue"?

A.—It is a common synonym of deficiency.

Q.—What is the meaning of "only"?

A.—"Everything except." Populerepublican.

Q.—Who is the head of the party?

A.—It has no head—or pluck either.

Q.—Who is president?

A.—Jacob Sleeper Coxey.

Q.—Are you betting much on the success of the Populerepublicans?

A.—Yes.

Q.—Why?

A.—I'm rich and like to lose. Go home and graph yourself.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

A Distinguished Editor.

John A. Cockerill, president of the International League of Press Clubs and editor of the New York Morning Advertiser.

JOHN A. COCKERILL.

tiser and The Evening Commercial Advertiser, is one of the best known newspaper men in the country. He was for a number of years managing editor of the New York World and previously held the same position on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FACTS AND EVENTS.

Postage stamps of the ordinary adhesive variety cost the government about seven and one-half cents per thousand.

The oldest armor-clad is H. M. B. S. Warrior, launched at Blackwall, December 29, 1860, and first put in commission in the summer of 1864.

T. C. M. Weaver, convicted at Erie, Pa., on three indictments for fortune-telling, has been sentenced to six months in the Allegheny county workhouse.

An Italian physician in a recent report says that four per cent of the population of Naples die annually from impoverishment of blood, caused by the lack of meat as food.

At Lommatzsch, Saxony, a woman of sixty-four, has received ten blows with a stick by order of the burgomaster, and in the presence of a doctor, for habitual drunkenness.

In an Oregon court a laborer who has an Italian name, but looks like a German, had a linguistic duel with the court interpreter. He understood each question, but replied to it in a different tongue until the interpreter acknowledged himself beaten and asked the court for protection.

Suicide statistics, covering a period of twenty-five years, in New York city, offer some interesting deductions. They show, among other things, that the Irish and the negroes are not given to self-destruction. The Germans show a much larger percentage of suicides than either of the races above mentioned.

A rancher on Vashon island, Wash., has his house painted more expensively than any other house in the state. Last fall he found a box which contained about 200 pounds of what he thought was a fine quality of fire-proof paint floating in the sound. The paint was packed in small tin cans and bore a foreign label, and as it had cost him nothing he thought he would paint his house with it. The house is now painted inside and out, and in doing so the greater portion of the paint was consumed. The rancher has discovered, much to his sorrow, that instead of fire-proof paint he has his house covered with about $3,000 worth of smuggled opium, which was thrown overboard by smugglers.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

TOWARDS HER DAUGHTERS.

Suggestions Which May Help to Avoid Many Dangers.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Less than twenty years ago even the medical profession scouted the idea that young girls could suffer from the misery of uterus troubles.

That form of disease, it was claimed, came only to married women.

When Lydia E. Pinkham first sent out the news of her great discovery, there was no lack of harsh speech from those whose practice and opinions she set at defiance.

But when young girls by the hundreds were absolutely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then the tongues of the traducers were stilled, and faith was allowed to live in the hearts of the people.

Young girls are subject to this trouble. It robs them of the buoyancy of youth. It makes all effort distasteful.

It causes retention and suppression of menses, leucorrhoea, severe headache, waxy complexion, depression, weakness, loss of appetite and interest.

This being the condition of your daughter, what is your duty, loving mother?

Certainly you ought to know that these are all symptoms of the one cause of nearly all the suffering that comes to women; and to save your daughter you ought to begin that treatment at once, which for 20 years proved its power throughout the world.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the surest and most natural remedy for women ever compounded. It will accomplish its work with certainty.

LANDING OF THE PILGRIMS.

When the sound of creaking cordage
Ceases and the gangways' down,
O'er it troop the folks from Sweden
To a land to them unknown.
Ask what place they want to go to,
"Vanta-gota—Minne-sota!"

Smiling girls with yellow hair,
Dash of red in either cheek,
Blue eyed, plump and very fair,
Scarlet lipped, expression meek—
Lord! Since Sweden's sent her quota
I "vanta-gota—Minne-sota!"
—Philip L. Barker in Chicago Record.

WALTZED HER AWAY.

All society was agreed upon one point—that for me there were but two suitable fiancées—my cousin Gontran, the duke de Lannis, and the Duke de Courtalin.

I saw him—at the ball of the De Fresnes. He did me the honor to dance three times with me, and I went home absolutely intoxicated with joy. But the joy was of short duration, for the next day he said to his brother, who told his sister, who told me:

"It seems that I am to marry my cousin Marceline. Last evening I was literally thrown into her arms. Out of pure goodness of soul I took pity on the poor little schoolgirl and danced with her three times. But there must be no more of it. I have not yet had enough of life. Besides I know of nothing more ridiculous than marriage between cousins."

But that was not all. He also said to Robert, "I saw her in evening dress last night for the first time, and she is so thin."

That night, after Gabrielle had told me all this, I disrobed before the mirror and studied my poor little shoulders with their great hollows and had a fit of weeping. Mamma came in the middle of it.

"My angel, what is it?" She took me in her arms.

But I could not speak. The tears choked me. "My treasure, you pain me. Speak, dearest."

Then, to reassure her, I managed to say between my sobs: "It is because I am thin, mamma! Gontran, last evening, thought I was so thin!"

Thereupon mamma began to laugh. She told me that at 17 she was much thinner than I, and she assured me very solemnly that I would certainly develop.

That winter of my first season mamma took me to a dozen great affairs, but they were occasions of mourning and sorrow, for Gontran was not there.

He did not want to marry. He even told me so. I did not know then that this was by order of my mother.

One day about 4 o'clock in the afternoon—it was the second day of June—mamma came into my room with a look on her face that was new to me. "My child," she said, "my child."

She had no need to say more. I understood. All the evening before at the Prince de Vearri's M. de Courtalin had been with me, and the next morning his mother had told mamma that her son knew of nothing more beautiful than my face.

Mamma tried to make me listen to reason. If I refused him, I threw away a splendid chance. The Duke de Courtalin was the mark at which all the maternal guns were pointed. Great name, great position, great fortune.

For me, I had but one word to oppose to all these just and proper remarks—Gontran! Gontran! Gontran or the convent, and the most severe convent at that—Carmel.

M. de Courtalin was perfection. I listened to his praise all the afternoon and hated him. The more he was eulogized the more I turned from him. With Gontran I could be quite at my ease, for he never impressed one with his superiority. I knew but little, but my ignorance, compared with his, was erudition.

Mme. de Courtalin had called to ask my hand for her faultless son. I do not know what mamma said to her after my refusal. I only know that I was left for awhile in peace.

And where was Gontran through the long summer? Making a tour of the world very quietly and quite at his ease.

I learned afterward that this also was mamma's doing; that when he was in Japan he had brought me a number of lovely little things, placed in a tiny case that bore my name. The case had been sent to mamma, but I had never seen it.

All that year one name was sounded in my ears—Courtalin, Courtalin, always Courtalin. He had all the virtues under heaven. My determination began to weaken, I say it to my shame.

After all, what advantage there was in being a married woman! Absolute freedom would be accorded me. Then the thought of being a duchess was not displeasing.

All winter mamma displayed perfect taste and exquisite sweetness. She never urged, never tormented me. I knew, however, that she said to her friend, Mme. de Nelly: "My dear, she will yield before the 20th of June. It must be."

On that date we left Paris for Aix-les-Bains.

And I did not continue to say no with the savage energy of last year. I only awaited Gontran's return. I knew that he would reach Paris on the 2d or 3d of April. The following day he would certainly come to see us.

And so it happened. He called about 3 o'clock, before mamma had quite completed her toilet. I was alone. I ran to him.

"Ah, Gontran, how happy I am to see you!"

And I kissed him without ceremony. He kissed me in return, was very much affected and began to speak such gentle, kind words that my heart melted. He found me a new creature. I was no longer thin. I had grown taller and fuller.

But just then mamma came in, then papa and then my brother George. An odious conversation regarding the merits of English and French boats followed—how the French boats made better time, how the food on them was so much finer, and so on. It was so enjoyable! It was not until three days after that we met him again, by accident, but he was no longer himself. He was icy. His good morning was icy; the shake of his hand was icy; his words icy. He was awkward and embarrassed. He quickly lost us in the crowd and reappeared no more.

I returned to throw myself once more into the arms of my mother and cry out, "Yes; I shall marry De Courtalin."

How many times between that and the 17th of May did I repeat the operation! It came to be a settled thing that no sooner did mamma see me appear than she mechanically opened her arms to receive her daughter, crying, "Yes; I will marry Courtalin," and soon after, "No; I will not!" But the "I will not!" became more and more rare.

M. de Courtalin was a model of tact, of kindness and of resignation. He waited, always in black, always buttoned, with inexhaustible patience. Mamma was invariably engaged with Mme. de Courtalin.

At last the 17th of May arrived. It was tacitly understood that upon that evening I would say yes to the patient lover, and the engagement would be formally announced before all the world. I was restless all day and glad when 11 o'clock in the evening found mamma and me at the home of Mme. de Vernieux, who was giving a great ball.

As I entered I became suddenly aware that I was the center of attraction. A line had formed itself on either side, and little ohs! of surprise and ahs! of admiration went deep into my heart.

M. de Courtalin came up to us. He wanted to ask my hand for all the waltzes, for all the quadrilles, for all the evening, for all my life.

I answered: "Later on. Presently. I feel a little fatigued."

My eyes roamed listlessly over the ball room and perceived, with a start, two other eyes, fixed, settled upon me—two eyes that I knew well, but found it difficult to recognize, so big had they grown in that concentrated, wondering look.

Suddenly their owner arose and turned toward me. A glance aside showed me Courtalin slowly and laboriously making his way toward me from another corner. My cousin looked at the same time and saw him.

Then it became a race between the two men. Gontran intrepidly cut through all the waltzers, but he reached me before Courtalin. He came up to me precipitately. He caught my hand; he put his arm about me.

We danced gayly, wildly, furiously. What a waltz! He said to me: "I love you; I love you! You are grace and beauty itself. There is not another woman here half so lovely! And it is I who shall marry you! Do you hear? I, and none other!"

"Ah, my dear, if you had not come tonight, my engagement to M. de Courtalin would have been officially announced tomorrow."

"Yes, but I have come, and I am here holding you fast. I have discovered that there is not another woman like you. I love you!"

"Slower, slower, I pray you. I am falling. Everything is turning around. Stop!"

"No, no; we shall not stop. If we stop, your mother will stop us, and I have more to say to you—much more. Swear that you will be my wife."

"Yes; I swear it. But enough—enough!"

He held me so tightly, and his face was pressed so close to my face, his lips so close to mine, that I grew suddenly faint and slipped down into his arms.

The next day our engagement was announced. The waltz had created a scandal. It was imperative.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

West Liberty, O.
DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I can cheerfully recommend your valuable medicine, the "Favorite Prescription," to suffering females. Three years ago my health became so poor that I was scarcely able to help with the household duties. I was persuaded to try your medicine, and I purchased six bottles. That, with the local treatment you advised, made me strong and well.
My sister has used it in the family with like results.

PRaise the Shaw FOR MANY MERITS.

FAMOUS PIANISTS PRAISE THE GAZETTE PRIZE.

Everybody Who Has Examined the Instrument at S. C. Burnham & Co's Says the Things Said in Its Favor Were Justified—Conditions of the Contest.

What is thought of the Shaw piano by pianists, vocalists and teachers. This is not hard to find out.

When The Gazette chose an instrument it picked out the best to be had. The girl who wins this instrument may well rejoice. Here are a few statements published in St. Paul papers by those who have used the Shaw:

OSCAR L. LIENAU, tenor singer and teacher of the voice writes:

ST. PAUL, MINN., May 1, 1892. GENTLEMEN: I am extremely pleased with the Shaw Piano, which I purchased of you. I have used it for some months and consider it a superior instrument. Its clear full tone and elastic touch is a delight not only to myself, but to my many friends, its sweet singing quality being especially noticeable, and I shall be pleased to recommend it to my pupils, etc., I am, yours respectfully,

OSCAR L. LIENAU.

Frederick Leavitt, the expert piano tuner:

ST. PAUL, MINN., May 1, 1892. GENTLEMEN: As compared with other first class instruments, the Shaw piano has the charming characteristics of each—all in one. Not a break in the scale. No rattling in the action. Never harsh nor metallic in tone. Stays in tune. Such is my admiration for the piano that I would not trade, "even up" for any upright made. My own Shaw has not required any attention during the past year and is in almost perfect tune now. Yours respectfully, FRED. LEAVITT.

Professor William Manner, organist at the Cathedral and leader of the German Mannerchor Singing society says:

ST. PAUL, MINN., May 1, 1892. I admire the Shaw Piano very much. Their construction is most excellent, the tone is round, rich and mellow, and altogether I consider them one of the very best pianos made today in this country. I can cheerfully recommend them. Respectfully yours, W. MANNER.

Those who wish to learn for themselves the quality of piano offered by the Gazette are urged to visit S. C. Burnham & Co's store. Several patterns of the Shaw are there shown. These instruments rank in the markets of the country just as Chickering, Steinways and Knabes, the four occupying first place. Everybody who has seen the Gazette piano is enthusiastic in its praise. It has a pure ringing tone, and its action is very fine. These qualities are what would be expected of a Shaw piano and The Gazette made no mistake in choosing that instrument.

Friends of contestants show a lively interest in the success of their favorites and votes are coming in rapidly. New subscribers should be reported as fast as secured, but coupons should be tied in bundles of one hundred each and kept until the day the competition closes. Votes have been cast up to date, for the following candidates:

Ainslie Tina.
Baker, Bessie
Baldwin, L. M.
Campbell, Nellie Ruth
Clifford, Alice M.
Eldredge, Rose B.
Eonis, Mary
Frink, May

Kastner, Alice
Loucks, Franc
McCarthy, Maggie
McNeil, Anna
Peters, Nellie
Pease, Bessie K.
Randall, Carrie M.
Wright, Ada V.

Names of other candidates will be added as fast as votes are received. Only bona fide candidates will be allowed. The rule that nobody is permitted to enter merely to represent an organized society will be strictly enforced.

From now until the contest closes a coupon will be printed in each issue of the Gazette.

1. Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

2. Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines). Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

3. Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

6. The lady who receives the largest number of votes will receive as good and beautiful a piano as the Shaw Piano Company can make.

7. The contest will close June 30, 1894. Piano will be delivered as soon as the counting of votes is completed.

8. Any person who will bring The Gazette one new subscriber paid in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

We will be square with you, you must be square with us. No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

The polls will close at 9:00 p. m., June 30, but votes handed in before this will be duly credited. The contest will be conducted strictly "on the square." No partiality or unfair advantage will be taken or allowed in any case.

To Remove the Smell of Paint.

For removing the smell of paint from rooms the simplest remedy of all is to be found in opening the doors and windows to let in a constant supply of fresh air until the paint has hardened. If, however, time is an object, the same result may be obtained by burning a few handfuls of juniper berries on a charcoal fire in the middle of the room in precisely the same way and with the same precautions in disinfecting with burning sulphur. The windows and doors must be stopped as closely as possible, and if the room be opened after twenty-four hours the disagreeable smell of paint will have gone and nothing that has been left in the room will suffer injury from the fumes. Hay sprinkled with a little chloride of lime and left for an hour in the room is also an efficacious remedy; and if some open vessels containing water stand in the room, after a time the water will be covered with a film and the smell diminished.

Sailing Under Sealed Orders.

Which has such a smack of ancient and perilous times, is a custom by no means abandoned in the United States navy. It is only a few years since a United States man-of-war left New York, crossed the Atlantic, and passed through the Mediterranean before those on board learned that it was their duty to visit Johannes Island, in the Indian ocean, off the coast of Africa, and there seize an American merchant vessel, carried off by a mutinous crew and supposed to be in the slave trade. It was on this strange quest that the ship's company discovered a former naval officer of the United States, living like an Eastern potentate, and exercising the power of life and death over a whole island of his own.—San Francisco Argonaut.

First of the Habitable Planet.

In Buffon's speculations on the origin and age of the solar system he gives some curious opinions and figures concerning the gradual cooling down of the various planets. According to these, the fifth satellite of Saturn was the first of the bodies which cooled down to a temperature which made its inhabitation by organized beings possible. This process began 4,949 years after the origin of the planetary system, and continued for upwards of 48,000 years. But as the system is now almost 75,000 years old, the first of the habitable planets long since became too cold for the existence of organized being of any sort, and is now a dead world.

A Disputed Case.

Many persons dispute the question as to whether or not baldness caused either by disease or neglect can be cured. In deciding the question allow us to say that most cases can be cured, while others cannot. Only a specialist of years of experience can tell this. Professor Birkholz, the world-renowned German specialist of the Masonic Temple, Chicago, where those who desire a good head of hair or beard can consult him in private, and free of charge. After a thorough examination, which costs you nothing, we will tell you whether or not you may procure that trait of personal adornment so necessary to your existence, and if we find that the follicles are not all dead, we will treat you and guarantee the results or ask no pay. Call on or address Professor Birkholz, 1011 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill.

Hand this notice to any first class druggist and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock.

Tossing on the "Briny".

Is very far from amusing, untraveled reader, I so be you are one. A rebellion fomented by each mountainous wave that smites the vessel's hull threatens absolutely to dislodge your very vitals from their natural resting place, and a nausea so frightful that it would reconcile you to a termination of your sufferings by shipwreck. Harasses you. Well for you then, or rather before this crisis, if you are provided with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a swift remedy for sea and preventive of the nausea of travelers by sea and land, nervousness caused by the vibration of the screw of a steamer or the jarring of a railway train, and an antidote to bowel, liver and stomach troubles caused by impure water and unaccustomed food. The Bitters also, counteracts the effects of a fatigue and exposure, and is a safeguard against malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble.

Rev. Father Clarke, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes:

Gentlemen:—I cannot express enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

Gentlemen:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from any medicine which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being 18 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.

With So Many
Stores Each Claiming
To Be the Cheapest,
What Are You to Determine?

WE BLAME NO ONE FOR BEING PARTIAL to what they own. We have never claimed what we can't substantiate. We tell you plainly that our facilities for buying are equal to any in the country. Our qualities are sure to be right because we buy only the best. Now comes the pleasing fact that people can buy here for less money, finer Furniture than at any other store in Janesville. Hardly possible to put it plainer. The merchant has t all his own way in advertising. If he seeks to attain permanent success his statements must be gospel truth. Reliability outweighs bags of gas, always and everywhere. This is the kind of sermon we preach: this is what we practice. We find it draws. For this reason we extend a simple invitation to every reader of these lines to come and see for themselves.

Colored Miner Slain by Strikers.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 21.—At Pratt City Walter Glover, a colored miner, was awakened from sleep, called to his door and shot dead. The murderers then fled. At daylight Jerry Hilliard, Connie Sullivan and John Driver, striking miners, were arrested for the murder. The force of guards has been increased and the word given to shoot violators of the law.

Emperor Wilhelm's Ear.
The hearing of Emperor William of Germany is impaired by the huge wads of cotton wool with which he is forced to pack his ears. They do not constitute the most agreeable or comely feature of this physically afflicted monarch, and one of the most cutting remarks concerning them was that made by Bismarck when he sarcastically remarked that he was glad, on the whole, "not to possess the ear" of his sovereign.

Trains to Be Taken Off.
MASSILLON, Ohio, May 21.—The Wheeling & Lake Erie railway will take off passenger trains Nos. 3 and 7 and all freight trains except locals on account of the scarcity of coal.
Frost in Iowa.
BURLINGTON, Iowa, May 21.—Frost prevailing here has done considerable damage to crops.
